Linda Bradley, Centinela Hospital CEO honored with Los Angeles Business Journal Healthcare Leadership Award

(Inglewood, CA – April 19, 2016) – Linda Bradley, CEO of Centinela Hospital Medical Center, was named Hospital CEO of the year at the Los Angeles Business Journal’s annual Healthcare Leadership Awards event held at the Omni Hotel in Downtown Los Angeles on April 18. The awards are given every year to recognize the accomplishments of individuals and organizations that have contributed to improving healthcare delivery in Los Angeles.

“We recognize the importance in our communities and in our personal lives of local health-care leaders and we’re proud to name Linda Bradley this year’s Hospital CEO award winner,” said Matthew Toledo, publisher and CEO of the Los Angeles Business Journal. “Linda’s remarkable leadership at Centinela Hospital and her commitment to quality care and employee satisfaction is the foundation for the growth of one of our area’s strongest community based hospitals.”

“It’s a great honor to be recognized for being part of an organization dedicated to delivering compassionate patient care to those Southern Californians who seek help and hope for their serious healthcare issues,” said Bradley. “By honoring me, you honor our entire medical center team – our expert physicians, clinical staff, support staff and administrative staff who all go above and beyond to provide exceptional medicine and care every day.”

Ms. Bradley began her tenure at Centinela Hospital in 2010. As CEO, Ms. Bradley provides day-to-day operational leadership for the hospital; interfaces with community stakeholders and is an integral part of Prime Healthcare Services senior management team where she was selected to oversee their nationwide leadership training program.

“Linda has worked extremely hard to improve and grow Centinela Hospital so it can continue to meet the needs of the community,” said Mike Sarian, President of Prime Healthcare. “She has taken the hospital to new heights with her visionary leadership, commitment to quality and passion for serving others. We are so proud of Linda and the work she is doing to make Centinela one of the top ranked hospitals in the nation for quality care.”

Centinela Hospital Medical Center utilizes an innovative and integrated healthcare delivery system that remains ever cognizant of patient and community needs and desires for high quality affordable healthcare. Under Ms. Bradley’s leadership, Centinela Hospital has been recognized by numerous national organizations. The hospital has been named a Top 100 Hospital in the United States five years in a row by Truven Health Analytics. It has been named a Distinguished Hospital for Clinical Excellence and Patient Safety three years in a row by Healthgrades – which places Centinela Hospital in the top 5% for quality care of
